SCHOOL DECLARED OPEN

OPENED BY PETERSON

New School Termed Credit to City, B.C.

Pert, little second-grader Berna Fujita, shyly ascended the steps and presented a pair of scissors to Hon. L. R. Peterson, minister of education, who then snipped the ribbon to officially open Penticton's new Princess Margaret Elementary - Junior High School yesterday afternoon.

In the brief preliminary ceremony outside, against the backdrop of the clean lines of the 14-room, $350,000 school, 350 children arrayed in rows before the front doors sang "O Canada." Canon A. R. Eagles then gave the dedication, and with the cutting of the ribbon the large gathering of students, parents, and government representatives filed into the spacious school auditorium.

Following introductory remarks by school board chairman Frank Eraut, Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands and forests, spoke briefly on behalf of the provincial government, and Mayor C. E. Oliver on behalf of the city of Penticton.

CREDIT TO B.C.

Dave Pugh, MP for Okanagan-Boundary, representing the federal government, said the new school was a credit to Penticton and certainly to the educational system of B.C. He emphasized that the need for trained people in Canada was tremendous and that children must make use of today's expanded educational facilities.

Frank Richter, MLA for Similkameen, introduced the main speaker of the afternoon, Education Minister Peterson.

Mr. Peterson said the coincidence of the school opening with the B.C. Centenary made it an extra pleasure to be present at the ceremonies.

DEBT TO PAST

Modern British Columbians have a "debt to the past" which cannot be paid in the usual way, the minister remarked.

"The only way is for us to build for the future," he counselled.

Mr. Peterson, on behalf of the provincial government, congratulated the local school board and teachers for the work they have done and are doing. But he explained there was no group more important than the students themselves. He advised students in the audience to "work, work hard, study and learn," telling them the story of the children who had been told to pick up pebbles which later turned to jewels.

"They were glad they had taken some but they were sorry they had not taken more," the education minister related. "The worth of a nation is not measured by the general quality of all the people but by the special qualities of a few."

After the ceremonies parents and guests enjoyed refreshments and made a tour of the building.

Starr Appeals for End to Disputes

ABOUT MUSTY WATER

Sparks Fly When Citizens Complain

By VIC MISUTKA

A petition, complaining of the "musty taste" of Penticton's domestic water during the summer, drew indignant sparks from city council members last night.

"This burns me up a bit," exclaimed Ald. H. M. Geddes, domestic water committee chairman, when the petition, signed by 122 city residents, had been read.

"I wonder why people who run around with such petitions don't go to the trouble to see whether something is being done. We are well aware the water is musty. But we've got only so much money to spend and we've spent more than our limit on the dam."

Ald. Geddes added that those complaining should "take a trip back to the prairies and see what they drink there with no hope of ever having anything better."

"There were many places in B.C. that had little or no water to spare this past summer," put in Ald. P. F. Eraut. "Penticton was fortunate in not even having to impose sprinkling regulations."

BOULDER CREEK SOLUTION

As a result of the discussion following receipt of the petition, council passed a recommendation to next year's council that, possible construction of a dam at Boulder Creek on the Penticton Creek system, be fully investigated to determine whether a further supply of mountain water can thus be made available.

It was agreed that the domestic water taste was due to the fact that the record irrigation draw left little mountain water for domestic use, necessitating pumping from Okanagan Lake for much of the summer.

An irrigation committee report disclosed that water demand in August reached 119,000,000 gallons, an all-time high.

Mayor C. E. Oliver was doubtful whether the work at Penticton Number One Dam, adding 400 acre feet more to storage capacity, would eliminate pumping from the lake for domestic use, particularly in a dry year.

He contended that another dam was needed either at Boulder Creek or some other site and it was at his suggestion that the Boulder Creek recommendation was passed.

EMERGENCY NEED

Ald. Geddes felt that the auxiliary pumps on Okanagan Lake were certainly needed, however, even if the mountain water supply were entirely adequate, in case of emergency.

The musty taste of the lake water was due to the fact that the intake was not far enough to achieve sufficient depth for good water.

Ald. A. C. Kendrick noted that when water mains are extended to Skaha Lake, pumps could be installed there and a greater depth achieved in a much shorter distance.

The petition said merely that the undersigned wished to draw to council's attention to "the very unsatisfactory condition of the domestic water supplied this year."

"Though the water was rendered chemically safe for human consumption through chlorination, its taste was musty and many believed this was the cause of minor intestinal disorders, the petition added, urging that "this condition be remedied as soon as possible."

"What shall we do with this petition?" someone asked at the close of the discussion. "I guess we'll have to receive it."

"Throw it in the wastepaper basket," was Ald. A. C. Kendrick's first suggestion but then he moved that it be received and filed.

Following the meeting Ald. Geddes and others explained that their objection to the petition was that it merely complained of a situation that everyone knew existed without offering any constructive.

"We knew the water wasn't what it should be but we can only do so many things at once," Ald. Geddes added. "And once our sewer bylaw is out of the way, I'll be going after trying to get the intake extended into deeper water out in the lake."

Economy Now in Critical Stage

VANCOUVER (CP)—Labor Minister Starr today cautioned labor and management to hold down industrial disputes so as not to add to Canada's unemployment.

"When we are on the highroad to economic recovery it is no time for reckless driving by either side," he said in an address to the triennial convention of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CLO).

He told the representatives of the largest all-Canadian union that he believes "we have worked our way out of the worst of the slump and are on our way back."

But he said the coming winter's unemployment may be as serious as last winter, Canada's worst post-war period for jobless.

"I can assure you that every measure possible will be taken to deal with the situation as it develops."

"As far as employment is concerned, we now are at the critical stage where we can either go ahead and climb out of this slump or sag back into a condition as bad or worse than last winter."

"SERIOUS RESPONSIBILITY"

"I submit this places upon both labor and management a serious responsibility."

"Strikes or lockouts—for which labor and management must accept equal responsibility—will have the effect of further swelling already serious unemployment."

"For it is a fact that when work stops in a key industry, then there follows immediately a widening pool of unemployment in secondary and subsidiary industries."

He referred to the effect of such labor disputes as "compulsory unemployment."

"It is vitally necessary at this time," he added, "that both labor and management so conduct their affairs that neither the public interest nor, for that matter, their own interest will suffer as the result of their failure in this regard."

Two Charges Dismissed in Local Court

Two charges of false pretences against Richard J. W. Hardisty of Penticton were dismissed by Magistrate H. J. Jennings in Penticton Police Court yesterday afternoon.

Hardisty had been charged with allegedly placing false advertising in a magazine called the "Totem Pathfinder."

Peter Vanderhoop was Crown prosecutor and Frank C. Christian defence counsel.

John Howard Founder Meets Service Clubs

BY DUNC McWHIRTER

Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign of Vernon, one of the founders of the John Howard Society in B.C., addressed the Penticton Kiwanis Club at 1 p.m. today. This evening he will meet the local executive of the society. Tomorrow he will be guest speaker at a luncheon of the Penticton Rotary Club.

This brings at least four questions to mind.

The first—who was John Howard?

John Howard was an Englishman who lived from 1726 to 1790. After being captured by a French pirate ship and experiencing the terrible conditions in European prisons he set about to bring reforms. He devoted his life to this work, visited hundreds of prisons, published his findings and brought about great improvements in the care and treatment of offenders. John Howard died of "prison fever" in the Crimea while in the midst of his great work. He is known in history as "The Prisoner's Friend."

Second, what is the John Howard Society of B.C.?

The John Howard Society of B.C. was organized in 1931 by a group of private citizens in Vancouver who felt that some means should be provided to help people released from prison to rehabilitate themselves. A voluntary board of directors, representing all walks of life, including business, professions, and labor, directs its affairs and a staff of social workers carries out the work.

Third, who does the John Howard Society help?

Requests for help are usually far greater than the power of the society to meet them. This is due to a small staff and limited finances. Caseworkers must evaluate each case in terms of how it will affect rehabilitation prospects. The John Howard Society is guided by reports from classification officers, previous records and its own contact with the individual in making a fair decision.

DESIGNED TO HELP

The society is mostly interested in helping the person who does not blame everybody but himself for his difficulties. The man who realizes that some of his problems lie within himself has made the first step towards rehabilitation. Through frank discussions with the society's representative and careful planning the other steps towards rehabilitation may be made easier.

Fourth and final question must be—what does the John Howard Society do?

This is a big question and can only be answered summarily. First of all, weekly visits are made to Okalla Prison Farm and twice monthly visits are made to the B.C. Penitentiary. Any prisoner will be interviewed at his request or at the request of his family, prison officials, social agency, or other interested persons.

Two types of service are offered, depending on what is needed. First type is pre-release planning. It consists of getting to know the John Howard representatives; discussing problems which led to imprisonment, or which develop in prison; making contacts with the prisoner's family, employer or friends; and working out plans for such things as a job and accommodation.

Realizing that prison earnings do not go far and that help is often necessary, the John Howard Society may be able to provide such aid as work clothes, tools, transportation to the job, groceries, room rent or other material assistance if it cannot be provided otherwise.

The second type is temporary aid. In this case the society helps out if the prisoner only wants a brief service such as information about parole or ticket-of-leave, contacting a family member, proper clothes for release date, seeing that the family receives aid, and free legal advice or counsel.

FOLLOW-UP SERVICES

The John Howard Society also extends follow-up services. If a prisoner has discussed future plans with a society representative then continued contact is expected after release. Problems often arise at home, on the job, or in the community which require counselling. Only when the individual feels completely re-established and no longer in need of help does the society's contact and interest in his rehabilitation cease.

That, in a nutshell, is the John Howard Society.

"Our aim is a healthy community dealing humanely and effectively with the individual human tragedies which threaten to infect it. Our purpose is to give leadership to the community in its attempt to deal with the problem of the lawbreaker and to assist the offender in his efforts to become a good citizen."

Canon A. R. Eagles is president of the local branch of the Society.

Prisoner Jumps Oakalla Guard

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—A 22-year-old man escaped from Oakalla Prison today while working in an unfenced area of the prison farm with a work gang.

Oakalla officials identified him as Thomas Robinson of Vancouver and said he had only about four months of an 18-month sentence to complete.

Autumn Arrives With First Snow

The official start of autumn was marked by the first snowfall of the season in Penticton district last night.

Pentictonites awoke this morning to see a white cap on the higher levels of surrounding hills.

Clearly evident to Osoyoos residents was a substantial snowfall on Anahist Mountain, east of the village, above the lookout at the 3,500-foot level.

Bennett Denies Election Rumor

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier Bennett Monday denied reports that the Social Credit government of B.C. is planning a provincial election in the spring.

"It's just the same as all the other CCF propaganda," he told reporters, "completely false."

The government's term of office doesn't end until 1961.

Reduction in Walk Limits to be Asked

Special to The Herald

KELOWNA — B.C. School Trustees want a reduction in "walking limits" for elementary and secondary school students.

A resolution to this effect was passed at this morning's session of the 54th annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees Association.

At present the department of education will not approve transportation for elementary pupils within two and a half miles of their school, and for secondary pupils within three miles.

The convention wanted these limits reduced to one and a half and two miles respectively.

Supporters said two and a half miles was too far for young pupils, especially in winter, and exposed them to danger on highways where cars were travelling 50 miles per hour.

Trustees passed a series of resolutions seeking improved and more economical practices with respect to school buses.

These included more economical and flexible practices in conducting buses instead of on the basis of mileage alone, wider seats to carry more pupils per bus, and grants based on maximum safe and comfortable load for pupils actually transported rather than on number of elementary pupils who could be carried.

Another asked the department of education to revise policy on providing funds for replacing buses.

Delegates were widely divided on a resolution calling for traffic to come to a full stop when school buses are halted to take on or discharge passengers.

Some argued that this practice would be more dangerous than permitting traffic to continue and others argued some such action was necessary because drivers were ignoring the regulation limiting them to 15 miles per hour when passing halted school buses.

Opposition of the provincial traffic authorities to halting cars and trucks for school buses brought the comment from one delegate:

"They want to kill a few students before they do anything."

Others argued it was more important to train children in safe practices.

Because of confusion among delegates, voting was deferred for motion and amendment to be sorted out, along with procedural problems that developed during the argument.

$700,000,000 Order For New Aircraft

By DAVE McINTOSH

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will order 100 supersonic Arrow interceptors at a cost of some $700,000,000, it was learned today on good authority.

Eighty of these Arrows will be out of new production while 20 will be taken from the 37 prototypes now being turned out by the manufacturer, Avro Aircraft Limited, Malton, Ont.

The big stumbling block has concerned whether to order a new armament control system for the Arrow or to buy, at considerable saving, a system now available in the United States.

Purchase of the U.S. system would save the government about $300,000,000 but if it went ahead with the new system developed by RCA Victor.

Vancouver May Get Secondary Air Terminal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A multi-million dollar airfield built during the Second World War at Boundary Bay, 20 miles south of here, may soon become a secondary field to accommodate 1,000 planes now operating out of Vancouver, Transport Minister Hees said Monday night.

The minister said in an interview that the only problem is relocation of army signals and communications units now at the base.

Nothing was reported stolen. Entry was gained into the building by forcing in the cardboard above the back door.

RCMP are investigating the break-in.

Publication Suspended as Guild Strikes

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—The American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.) went on strike against the Brantford Examiner today. Members of mechanical unions declined to cross guild picket lines, set up at 6 a.m. and the daily newspaper suspended publication for the day.

Peter M. Preston, one of the publishers, said it was the first time to his knowledge that the paper, now in its 106th year, has missed publication. It has been a daily since 1883.

The strike, first to be called by the guild against a Canadian daily newspaper, came after resumed negotiations Monday failed to bring agreement between the publishers and guild Local 86 for a first contract.

STUDENTS PROTEST

Students at United College have protested to the college board of regents that its dismissal of Prof. Harry Crowe has had the effect of limiting the academic freedom of faculty members.

A petition signed by 84 students, mostly in third and fourth year, and graduate students, was read Monday night to the board by a three-man delegation at a one-hour secret meeting.

GUEST SPEAKER AT KIWANIS

Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign, centre, a past provincial president of the John Howard Society and one of its founders in B.C., addressed Penticton Kiwanis Club at 1 p.m. He is shown before the luncheon meeting with Dr. A. Earl Wells, left, Kiwanis president, and Canon A. R. Eagles, president of the Penticton Branch of the John Howard Society.

Co-operation Keynote In Building New School

Co-operation was the keynote in the building of the Princess Margaret School officially opened yesterday by Minister of Education Leslie Peterson.

A spokesman for Kenyon and Company, main contractors for the construction of the new building, said this morning: "Co-operation from the architect and the school board made our task much easier than it could have been."

Construction on the school started September 30, 1957. McKeljohn, Lamont and Gow were the architects who designed the fully modern building to accommodate grades from one to nine.

BRIGHT CHEERINESS
Most striking aspect of the new school is its brightness and cheeriness. Such colors as salmon, lime green, dark green and white have been selected and placed in a way that should keep students in a keen, active frame of mind.

Spaciousness seems to be another strong keynote in the design of the school. This goes hand in hand with the color scheme. It has been consciously intended for young people, for students with a zest for life and learning. New materials have been utilized. Floors are of linoleum, vinyl tile and gleaming maple.

CLEAN, STRONG LINES
The exterior of the school presents a balance of clean, strong lines. All is order and symmetry and brightness. The crisp organization of design should make the Princess Margaret School a cheery stimulus to learning.

Betts Electric installed all electrical fittings under architect's instructions and the brightly lit corridors and classrooms give evidence to the efficiency of planning.

Floors, brightly polished and adding to the general air of cleanliness, were laid by Sather Custom Floors. Interior and exterior plastering was carried out by R. Armour.

TO BE JUNIOR HIGH
Though accommodating grades one to nine at the present time the new school will eventually become a junior high school attending the educational needs of grades seven to nine.

Much work is yet to be done on the grounds of the school, but it is hoped eventually to have the smart new building surrounded with grounds equal in beauty to the school itself.

TALK OF THE VALLEY

DOUBTFUL DECLARATION

Hon. L. R. Peterson, minister of education, after his speech to the big crowd gathered in the Princess Margaret School auditorium, declared a school holiday. This announcement was greeted by a ripple of enthusiasm among the 350 students. Then the Education Minister, obviously relishing his role, told the children he did not know when the holiday would be. This grim clarification was followed by an audible groan by the younger part of the audience. A kid just doesn't know where he stands anymore.

Canon A. R. Eagles arose yesterday morning, deeply convinced it was his birthday. But as the day wore on it became quite evident that no one was wishing him well about it. Late in the day the Canon became disturbed by this seeming lack of consideration on the part of his friends. Not one person had wished him a happy birthday. Unable to contain himself any longer, he braced himself and asked why no birthday greetings?

The reply was even more disturbing. It wasn't his birthday — but it was his wedding anniversary.

PERFECT HAND
Dave Rutledge, member of Canadian Legion Branch 40 and Bill Pickard were playing a friendly game of crib the other day. Dave was holding three fives and the Jack of spades then up came the five of spades.

The cut gave Rutledge a perfect 20 hand. It was the first time in 61 years of playing cribbage that the 75-year-old man had ever held a perfect hand.

EXIT VIA CHUTE
Thieves made off with some jackets and other items of clothing from the Oliver Variety Store at Oliver early Saturday morning. Entry was made through the sawdust chute at the rear of the building. RCMP are investigating and request anyone witnessing anything unusual in the vicinity of the break-in in the early hours of Saturday, to inform the police at 25

The request, before city council last night and referred to the planning commission for recommendation, was from J. E. Clarke for rezoning of part of Lot 110, Map 333, to a commercial area.

A second request for similar rezoning on Government Street, was rejected, however, on recommendation of the commission. This was from Doug Kilburn for property near the apartment

Manslaughter Trial Delayed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The manslaughter trial of Charles Horace (Pete) Stoneham, 30, Monday was postponed until Nov. 17.

The son of Horace Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants baseball team, had been scheduled to go on trial Monday on charges arising from the traffic death of Mrs. Jennie Leach, 55, of Victoria, B.C.

Mrs. Leach was killed last February in Phoenix when a car in which she was riding collided with an auto driven by Stoneham. Attorneys for Stoneham pleaded that the press of other cases prompted the request for a delay.

Seagulls Upset Airline Men

MONTREAL (CP) — Thousands of seagulls chattering to each other have pilots at Montreal airport talking to themselves.

Ornithologists are puzzled by the strange behavior of the herding gulls that for the last two winters have crowded air lanes and runways at the airport.

"There's no rhyme nor reason to their behavior," said J. D. Glegghorn, curator of zoology at McGill University's Redpath Museum.

The flocks have caused more annoyance than damage, although a BOAC Britannia, recently turned back to Montreal after hitting a bird. No damage was done to the plane.

Kinney Ave. Main Nears Completion

Grading and levelling has constituted a substantial portion of the work of city crews during the past week according to the weekly report to city council last night by E. R. Gayfer, superintendent of works.

Curb returns on Lakeshore Drive were completed.

Some shaping was carried out on Ellis Street in preparation for paving. Postill & Sons have now commenced laying the levelling course and paving.

Some grading and levelling was done between the blacktop and the curb on Carmi Avenue, and crushed rock placed along this strip.

Grading was completed at the Jermyn Avenue School, and blade-mix placed for the basketball area.

Repairs were carried out on the old comminutor at the disposal plant.

Some grading and levelling was done on Redlands Road in preparation for the experimental asphalt curb.

Miscellaneous maintenance work was also carried out, such as cleaning out catchbasins.

Continuous Support Needed by Cubs

A meeting of the mothers' auxiliary of the St. Saviour's Third Penticton Cub Pack was held at 8 p.m., Friday, September 19th, at the Anglican Parish Hall.

Mrs. A. T. Ante, Pack Leader, spoke of the need for a strong auxiliary, warning that there was always the danger that a pack might lose its charter unless there were continuous and active support from the parents who form the auxiliaries.

Mrs. Ante said that there was a real need for fathers to interest themselves more in the activities of the scout pack. She praised the cub mothers who, she said, responded well to all requests for help, and paid particular tribute to her two assistants, Mrs. C. M. McLeod, and Mrs. A. F. Day.

Election of officers followed. Mrs. R. M. Freeman was elected to the presidency for a second year, and Mrs. L. C. Brock will serve a second term as secretary-treasurer.

Vice-president will be Mrs. John Edwards and other officers are: social conveners — Mrs. A. M. Taylor, and Mrs. L. C. Brock; membership — Mrs. Trevor Punnett and Mrs. L. Bartlett; phone committee — Mrs. A. M. Taylor; publicity — Mrs. P. M. Cullen.

After the election of officers, the new executive agreed on the importance of maintaining an active membership, and discussed possibilities for raising money.

Needless Expense at Dam Job, Says Mayor

Part of the work at Penticton Creek Number One Dam has been far too costly for the purpose which it serves," charged Mayor C. E. Oliver at city council last night.

The mayor was referring to the construction of an entirely new spillway of reinforced concrete as part of the project in which the height of the dam was raised and its storage capacity increased to about 1,200 acre feet.

NO REAL TROUBLE
Mayor Oliver said the former wooden spillway had served quite adequately and without trouble of any kind for some 50 years and he could see no "real purpose in the expensive new spillway."

He said the cost of the dam project, around $40,000, was over the estimates by the amount expended on the new spillway.

Explaining that the spillway was put in on recommendation of the Water Rights Branch, the mayor said that had he known it was planned, the spillway construction would have been deferred to a later date.

However, when he first heard of the new spillway, it had already been constructed, the crews at the dam being put on this job while earth moving was not possible due to water still remaining in the basin.

UNFAIR CRITICISM
Mayor Oliver also indicated a belief that last year's expenditures on the dam were largely unnecessary too.

"The movement of water through the dam which was complained of last year, was prevalent all this summer despite the extreme drought and the fact that the old culvert where the seepage was thought to be coming through, had been sealed off," he said.

"This shows that the water was not coming through the dam at all, but from the land surrounding the reservoir. I think we suffered from a lot of unfair criticism last year."

NO TWO DAM
Meanwhile the Water Rights Branch advised in a letter that the council's preliminary proposals for the raising of the Penticton Number Two dam by three feet, tentatively slated for next year, was not acceptable and would have to be rejected.

This catchment can only be considered as of sand fill construction and certainly has no impervious core, the letter said.

The only acceptable procedure for raising it and increasing its capacity would be to put in a continuous cutoff wall along the upstream toe, either of puddled clay or driven sheet steel piling, along with a continuous impervious face on the upstream side tied in with the cutoff wall.

Regarding a request for a domestic water main extension off Grandview Street to J. Kembel's property, as was evidenced last night at city council meeting, by a letter from E. S. Andrew, urging a council initiative scheme for a domestic water line down South Main Street from the forks on a local improvement basis.

"I feel sure that the great majority of property owners along this street would lend their support for such a line on the same basis as for the installations along Skaha Lake Road," Mr. Andrew said.

His letter was referred to the board of works committee for study and recommendation.

Petitions on file at city hall, now ensure extension of the 10-inch main along Skaha Lake Road to 100 feet south of Guelph Avenue.

Meanwhile a council initiative scheme has been launched for a main along Green Avenue to the Princess Margaret school property.

In other parts of the city, a petition has been accepted for a domestic water main extension on Granby Avenue which will be installed when funds are available.

To raise the amount and pay off the building, city council is using the $1,425 left in its centennial grants account and $950 left in the pioneers' entertainment account taking the remaining $1,269 from the administration and operation account.

Part of the extra municipal contribution may still be recovered. There is a potential recovery of $1,800 in History of Penticton booklets that are still unsold and the Centennial Committee may have some funds left to turn back to the city after all celebration liabilities are discharged.

Sheared Pin Causes Mishap

OLIVER — A sheared pin in the steering gear of a car driven by Karl Andrew Swanson of Oliver was the cause of an accident on Highway 97 Sunday morning.

Swanson was driving north at the site of the overhanging rock at Vaseaux Lake when he lost control of his car and it collided with a late model auto driven by Paolo Pellicano of Seattle.

No one was injured. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at around $400. RCMP said no charges were being laid.

South Main Water Line Requested

Continuous Support Needed by Cubs

A meeting of the mothers' auxiliary of the St. Saviour's Third Penticton Cub Pack was held at 8 p.m., Friday, September 19th, at the Anglican Parish Hall.

Mrs. A. T. Ante, Pack Leader, spoke of the need for a strong auxiliary, warning that there was always the danger that a pack might lose its charter unless there were continuous and active support from the parents who form the auxiliaries.

Mrs. Ante said that there was a real need for fathers to interest themselves more in the activities of the scout pack. She praised the cub mothers who, she said, responded well to all requests for help, and paid particular tribute to her two assistants, Mrs. C. M. McLeod, and Mrs. A. F. Day.

Election of officers followed. Mrs. R. M. Freeman was elected to the presidency for a second year, and Mrs. L. C. Brock will serve a second term as secretary-treasurer.

Vice-president will be Mrs. John Edwards and other officers are: social conveners — Mrs. A. M. Taylor, and Mrs. L. C. Brock; membership — Mrs. Trevor Punnett and Mrs. L. Bartlett; phone committee — Mrs. A. M. Taylor; publicity — Mrs. P. M. Cullen.

After the election of officers, the new executive agreed on the importance of maintaining an active membership, and discussed possibilities for raising money.

HOME IMPROVEMENT LOAN

We, of course, wanted to fix ourselves a recreation room, but there's all manner of things you can do with a Home Improvement Loan. You can build a garage, for example, paint your house, or landscape your lot.

Home Improvement Loans, from Imperial Bank of Canada, are made available to homeowners who wish to make additions or improvements to their property, but haven't ready cash to go ahead. The interest rate is low, and convenient monthly payments can be arranged. See the manager at any branch of Imperial Bank about your Home Improvement Loan.

Majority Favor Concentrated Yearly Appeal for Charity

Are community chests and united appeals — the technique that might be described as "big charity" — stifling the voluntary impulse in giving?

Are charity payroll deduction plans (ostensibly voluntary) tending to become forms of employee blackmail?

Is it a fact that a great deal of money is being raised through social pressure and the fear of reprisal in the upper echelons of big business?

Canadians today are sharply divided on each of these questions, according to a national report on charitable giving that appears in the September 27 issue of Maclean's Magazine.

The gist of the report, prepared by Maclean's Peter C. Newman after weeks of research, is that the majority still prefers the highly organized approach of the community chests. Large-scale commercialized campaigning is most readily endorsed by "the business executives whose companies put up a large part of the money, and who feel that the neighborly warmth which once accompanied giving has not been spoiled."

But significant numbers of Canadians, Newman adds, "are troubled by their increasingly cynical attitude toward the spirit of giving to others more needy than themselves." He quotes Roy Cottier, a Toronto editor and part-time social worker: "The appeal has become vague and represented mainly in the public mind by promotional football matches and talent contests."

On the question of "employee blackmail" involved in payroll deduction plans, Newman cites occurrences in Toronto, Calgary and Hamilton plants in which employees were subjected to unusual pressures to increase their pledges.

But he goes on to report that most Canadian unions now favor the method. Moreover, the survey states, the deduction plan has been highly successful: in the Toronto area, it has increased employee contributions 400 per cent in two years. In Winnipeg 100 firms participated in the plan last year and 130 more are expected to join this year.

In at least some cases even sharper pressures have been applied to unrepresented businessmen themselves. Newman reports, "It's a shakedown," one company president said. "We give by compulsion." But again Newman reports that the majority of corporation donations are not pressured but given out of genuine charity, for business reasons, or a combination of the two.

The favorable majority view of the united appeals is bolstered by their success. The report says that 85 Canadian funds and chests last fall collected over $25 million. Before the big drives caught on, the individual campaigns now federated gathered only $10 million a year.

This point is reinforced by Carl Reinke, a Montreal executive and leader in philanthropic work, quoted by Newman: "The alternatives to united appeals — charity by taxation or multiple appeals — are simply destructive in the long run."

The Only Difference?

In an interview reported in the August issue of the Kiwanis Magazine Ken Loheed of Toronto, newly elected president of Kiwanis International, was asked the following question: "Having been a resident of both countries (Canada and United States) what do you feel is the essential difference between Canadians and Americans?" His answer was: "Their place of residence. I can't see any others."

A correspondent of ours writes from the United States: "One thing that worries me no end is that all too many newspaper editors both in Canada and United States are picking on a scab and doing their best to develop it into a real sore. I refer to the minor differences which exist between our two countries which definitely can be settled amicably by talking the matters out. Over our histories we have had these minor differences and have resolved them by sitting down as the good friends that we are to discuss them and arrive at decisions that were equitable. I see no reason why we should not continue along with that same orderly procedure."

Addressing the International Kiwanis convention at Chicago recently, Sidney Smith, Canadian Secretary of State for External Affairs, had this to say:

"Oftentimes as I ponder matters concerning relations between the United States and Canada my mind turns to a favorite poem by Robert Frost, which tells of a fence which has to be repaired at spring mending time, and the poet says:

'I let my neighbor know beyond the hill;

And on a day we meet to walk the line

And set the wall between us once again.'

"... As the poet has done, I like to ponder whether good fences make good neighbors. It seems to me so much depends upon the neighbors; so much depends on the kind of fence. If they are unneighborly neighbors, a fence separates them. If they are friendly neighbors, the fence becomes a meeting place where they can come and talk about their common interests and their common problems. ... I think that fences can be a symbol of some of the best things ... the fence between Canada and the United States ... is a very low fence and it has many gates."

"... Sometimes, it is difficult for us to co-operate with others in this uncertain world ... But a distinguishing characteristic of personal and national maturity is the ability to look abroad and to love even those people whom you cannot always like."

"Among ourselves in the United States and Canada, there is not much problem about liking one another ... I do not pretend for a moment that there are unresolved differences of view between individual persons within a country. The important thing is that the good will which has made it possible for us to resolve many problems in the past and to deal in a friendly manner with those problems which we now face, should be made to grow and expand."

Commonwealth Scholarships

Creation of a Commonwealth scholarship and fellowship plan for the exchange of students and teachers around the family circle of nations appears likely to be one positive result that will come from the economic conference sitting at Montreal. The conferees yesterday endorsed the proposal enthusiastically. Four nations volunteered at once what their contributions to such a scheme could be. Basically, the plan would place 1,000 students yearly in advanced institutions of learning, where they would continue postgraduate studies. Through exchanges the operation of the scheme would include every Commonwealth nation.

Great Britain offered to provide tuition centres for half of the annual scholarship list, that is for 500 individuals. Canada, said Finance Minister Fleming, would be prepared to contribute $1,000,000 a year to the scheme and look after 100 students. Australian spokesmen pointed out that Australia had already arranged for 150 additional annual scholarships under the Colombo plan, with much the same object in mind. The representatives of several other Commonwealth lands spoke in similar vein. From this degree of acceptance it is highly probable that the scholarship and fellowship program will be adopted, once its details have been worked out and the costs apportioned fairly.

On human grounds such an exchange of students between the member nations of the Commonwealth would be thoroughly worthwhile in itself. Beyond that, however, this would be the pooling of special knowledge and its dissemination gradually throughout the whole circuit. The teaching fellowships would have this as their main reason; while the post-graduate student courses would lead towards the same ultimate result. The universality of the scheme is, of course, its great appeal.

Centennial Issues Boost Archives

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—From many parts of British Columbia have come to this capital this centennial year, local histories of much value to the general history of our province.

They have been catalogued in the Provincial Library and Archives, and so have become a very important part of our official record, and will be referred to time and time again as historians of the future dig into the past, which today will someday become difficult as that is for us to believe.

Provincial archivist - librarian Willard E. Ireland says: "One of the happiest results of the observance of British Columbia's Centennial Year is the new flood of historical publications that the celebration has released. Communities large and small, racial and religious groups, companies and societies, schools and institutions, have been moved to produce histories of their groups of communities, all of which will fill what for many years has been a considerable need."

Many of these histories — little treasures in themselves — are now on display in the big glass cases in the main entrance to the library - archives wing of the Legislative Buildings, and thus are able to realize that there are other sections of British Columbia besides Victoria, a fact which Victorians are too often apt to forget, which causes outsiders to refer to them as smug, and which, indeed, sometimes they are.

SAFELY STORED

Let's look into those big glass cases and see what's there:

New Westminster: The Royal City, by Vancouver Sun columnist Barry Mather; Land of the Peace Arch, by John Pearson; Delta: The History of Progress; The History of Alert Bay: The History of Rutland; The Cariboo Story, by F. W. Lindsay; Kamloops, The Inland Capital, by J. J. Morse; The History of the Sisters of St. Anne, which covers so many parts of B.C. where the sisters are stationed, with schools and hospitals; The History of Vernon, by Theresa Gabriel; the Agassiz - Harrison Valley, by J. J. Woods; Richmond Municipality, published by Crown - Zellerbach; Rossland - The Golden City; The History of Penticton; Eighty-eight years at Sayward-Kelsey Bay, by Frances Duncan; New Denver - Eldorado of the Past; A History of Nanaimo, by Patricia M. Johnson; Early Days of Winfield, compiled by Mrs. W. R. Powley.

What variety — the fisheries and the totem poles of Alert Bay, the mines of the New Denver country, the orchards of Rutland and Winfield and Penticton, the ranches of the Kamloops and Cariboo countries; the charm of Vernon, where, fortunately, the city fathers left trees lining the main street; the rolling farms of the Delta and Peace Arch countries.

There are many more local histories to come before the end of the year, and we who do historical research in our library and archives, which all too few of you ever visit, are grateful to all the people, in so many parts of the province, who have gone to work on these histories, and as accurately as possible, and in ways that are delightful, added so much to the great story that is British Columbia.

Parents, Teachers Work Together

By EDN AUSER

Canadian Press Staff Writer TORONTO (CP) — Home and school associations are trying to teach parents they are not just social organizations bent on holding teas and raising money, says Mrs. T. M. Weatherhead.

A former teacher, Mrs. Weatherhead is president of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations.

"Parents education is as essential as child education in the modern world because parents who understand the way their children think and behave will be better able to guide them," said Mrs. Weatherhead.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

"Through the home and school associations try to inform parents — and under the rules no group must hold more than one money-making function a year and then only if the cash is needed for a special purpose."

Special purposes usually involve publicizing some aspect of education. "It is not the local group's job to buy equipment for the school—that is strictly the task of the board of education," she said.

Mrs. Weatherhead, 60, wife of a lawyer and mother of four children, was born on a farm near Brockville, Ont., attended high school at Prescott, Ont., and then attended normal school. She taught at country schools while obtaining a degree at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont.

Later she taught at a continuation school at Spencerville, Ont., where two teachers taught 100 pupils, water was carried by the bucket from a nearby farm and youngsters shared one cup.

"It was there I learned the importance of knowing parents," said Mrs. Weatherhead.

TWO REASONS

"In village life, parents visited the school for two reasons: To attend the Christmas concert or to complain."

"There was no home or school group, but many parents invited the teacher to tea at least once during the term."

Mrs. Weatherhead says that the insight this gave her into the lives of her pupils helped her to teach them.

"It is this close contact between teacher, parents and pupils that home and school groups try to maintain," she said. "It results in more understanding of the child, which is the aim of home and school."

Mrs. Weatherhead joined a home and school group 20 years ago, was president of her local group in Toronto in 1941-42, and president of Ontario Home and School Council in 1950-52.

"Teachers have a better relationship with parents now than in the days of once-a-term-ten," said Mrs. Weatherhead. "Now parents and teachers work together toward the full physical, mental and spiritual development of a child."

OTTAWA REPORT

Almost Wrecked Father's Faith

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Foxe Basin, N.W.T.: Four

score years ago, our Fathers of Confederation named this country The Dominion of Canada. That expressed their pious faith in the Biblical prediction that "His Dominion shall be from Sea to Sea, and from the river even unto the ends of the earth."

How near we have come to wrecking our Father's faith in Canada's future. How dangerously we have concentrated on the river, and ignored the ends of the earth.

At this point, very near the geographical centre of our Father's concept of Canada, we have jeopardized our sovereignty over our country.

There are two grounds upon which a nation may lay legitimate claim to any piece of real estate. One is by discovery or exploration; the other is by "effective occupation", which might follow either discovery, or conquest, or purchase.

Climatic reasons and lack of bodies have handicapped our duty and our wish to establish effective occupation of the north-land beyond our frontier of settlement.

This is especially true in the case of the islands between our mainland and the north pole. So we have fallen back on the "sector theory" of land ownership.

This maintains that a nation bordering the polar regions has the right to all land lying in the pie-slice area lying between the meridians of longitude marking its east and west borders, and projected until they meet at the pole.

OUR ESKIMO PIE

Fifty years ago Canada put forward the sector theory. We claimed all the land between the northward projections of the 60th meridian, which passes through the eastern nose of Nova Scotia, and the 141st meridian, which marks the western bound of the Yukon.

This sector theory has no basis in international law. We have not only fumbled our sovereignty over the Arctic, but we have weakened our own sector theory.

For example, in 1902 the Norwegian explorer Otto Sverdrup discovered and claimed three islands in our sector of the Arctic, and named them the Heiberg and Ringnes islands. More than 20 years later, we paid Norway $20,000 for the restricted sovereignty over them, thus admitting that our claim to them under our Sector Theory was not adequate.

As recently as 1956, only 19,313 Canadians, of European or Indian or Eskimo stock, lived in the 1,305,000 square miles of the Northwest Territories. This taken occupation was expanded by the long dog-sled patrols carried out by the RCMP. Such occupation might be interpreted as "effective" if it were coupled with outline mapping and charting of the coastal waters. But we had incomplete maps, and our charts are still excelled by Russian charts of our waters in some ways.

THE LOST ISLANDS

Cabinet Ministers today still have maps of Canada dated 1947 hanging in their offices. These do not even show the existence of two islands in this centrally located stretch of sea called Foxe Basin, although their joint area is more than twice that of P.E.I. These two islands, since named Prince Charles and Air Force, were first discovered accidentally by an RCAF pilot in 1948.

With these islands not even marked on government maps, we would have been in a very tricky position if, say, some Chinese, who are not concerned with the Sector Theory, had landed there and claimed ownership before 1948.

Within more recent years, large numbers of Americans, serving with the U.S. Air Force or working for contractors, have poured into our Arctic to set up and operate radar stations forming the Distant Early Warning or DEW line. Those Americans have begun to talk of "our Arctic northward projections of the 60th meridian." Canadians landing their aircraft there have been turned away by U.S. sentries and told to take off.

The situation had developed to the point where we had to assert our sovereignty positively, and quickly, or risk embarrassing international incidents.

I will describe in another column the exciting spectacle I have seen in our Arctic, and how the Diefenbaker government has recaptured our Arctic this summer with a fleet of World War Two invasion barges.

A Hot Time Coming In Cuban Election

By LARRY ALEN

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's Nov. 3 elections promise to be about the hottest in the history of this Caribbean island republic. Four men seek to be president.

President Fulgencio Batista has declared only God can prevent the elections being held on the day designated. But rebel leader Fidel Castro, who has been trying for nearly two years to oust Batista, has promised violence to prevent voting.

A suspension of constitutional guarantees is being enforced until Oct. 21. If it is not extended, candidates will have absolute freedom for about 12 days to put across their points in the battle for votes.

As the situation stands, public assemblies are permitted only through special government authorization. There is censorship of the press, radio and television. Cubans can be arrested without a warrant and imprisoned indefinitely without being charged or tried.

Batista believes that his candidate, former premier Andres Rivero Aguiar, 53-year-old lawyer and historian, is going to win easily.

THREE OPPONENTS

These are the three opposition candidates:

Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, 6, who was president 1944-48. He says Cubans face the issue of "ballots or bullets." He attacks Batista for denial of civil liberties.

Carlos Marques Sterling, a lawyer who served as president of Cuba's Constituent Assembly in 1940. He is making a vigorous campaign, promising a stable government with restoration of basic freedoms if he is elected.

Alberto Sa la A Amaro, a journalist. He does not seem to have hit the stride of the other campaigners.

Despite President Batista's assurances, many Cubans fear the voting will fall far short of free and honest.

They point out that Batista is determined his candidate will win and the government controls the election machinery. Batista's supporters say Rivero Aguiar will win if for no other reason than that the opposition is hopelessly divided.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Wife is Outraged by Husband's Defense of Unfriendly In-Laws

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband's partisan tender solicitude for his cunning, shrewd, avicious kinkof in Sicily has left me drained of any feelings or respect for him. I am sick of being second fiddle in his life, and am ready to give him his freedom to return to them and their vicious circle.

After World War II we sent them food, clothes and money for about five years. In 1952, Victor went to see them, and found them getting along so well he sent no more parcels on his return. But money, yes, behind my back, as they, being lazy, greedy and jealous, never get enough.

HER PATRIOTISM FIRED THEIR HATE

As their guest, I was unobtrusive, helpful, paid my own way, gave them small gifts, etc. — but when they would verbally attack my country I'd rise very proudly to her defense. This, and the fact that I didn't spend lavishly, may explain their hatred of me, and their vitriolic attacks on my character in letters to my husband, with whom they maintain a flowery correspondence.

Victor, I regret to say, believes all their lies. He gives no credence to my side of the story. He says they are his blood and come above and before me; and he will keep up the relationship and the correspondence, and I have nothing to say about it.

LACK OF CHARITY WEIGHS ON PLAINTIFF

DEAR E. S.: Granted that all you say of your in-laws' rascality may be true, still they aren't the fundamental problem that bothers you. Your soul is being tried by your own sins, against charity — your own hatred, jealousy, frustrated anger, etc., a plague of destructive emotions churned up by your thoughts of them.

If they lived next door, they might, in themselves, be your problem. But being so far away, across the world, they have hardly any bearing on your married life — only that which you insist upon giving them, by making bitter issue of Victor's left-handed interest in their welfare.

Now, to look at the problem at another angle; it strikes me that your outrage is due, partly, to your failure to comprehend the mixed motives of personal vanity and vague thankfulness that impel Victor to stick up for his family, right or wrong.

No doubt he keeps the relationship alive to keep them reminded of their success in life. He is a great success by ordinary Sicilian standards, and I daresay, their flowery appreciation of his achievement (as manifest in his gifts), is incense to his very human ego. Probably also his largesse to them is a sort of thank-offering to Providence, for having favored his efforts to gain a foothold in the New World.

SAINT'S RECIPE FOR KEEPING PEACE

In any case, they are his blood, as he says. And in consideration of the fact that he can't be other than himself born to Sicilian clannishness — it would be admirable of you to accept his "as is", and close the door of your mind on this futile clash.

St. Theresa of Lisieux tells us: "It is better to let (our associates) have their way in argument, then to go on wrangling over it. My recipe for victory is to run away," she says. See pages 268-69 in Ronlad Knox's translation of the saint's fascinating autobiography "The Story of a Soul" newly published by P. J. Kennedy & Sons, New York City — M. H.

Drastic Changes in New Winter Fashions

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — The Paris winter fashion collections have drastically changed the silhouette, but there is still many a dress and suit that can be salvaged in every wardrobe.

The silver lining under the cloud of the fashion revolution which has outmoded the sack, the chemise and the trapeze is that these very fashions are easy to change for a look in tune with the times.

When loose away-from-the-body styles came in more than a year ago, no power on earth could transform a slim fitted sheath into a sack.

CAN BELT

Today, as Paris decrees once more a marked waistline, it is an easy trick for any professional or homedressmaker to belt or control the fullness of last year's loose silhouette.

If a woman intends to shorten her hemline to the scant 20 inches from the ground featured by Balenciaga, Givenchy, Cardin and Lanvin - Castillo, the extra fabric gained from the hem can be made into a belt.

The belt may be encrusted or slotted through the bodice under deep décolleté scooped in camisole or boat-shape necklines. A line, and the skirt mounted in garters, or worn separately, with the front and back of the dressing up the neckline.

folded into casual, unpressed pleats. A leather belt or by a sash in contrasting fabric such as satin or velvet would achieve the same effect.

A trapeze dress could be transformed by running a double row of ruchings inside the garment, and gathering the width on to a drawstring. Pyjama cord belts marking high waists are one of the newest trends in all collections.

SEPARATE TOP

If, on the other hand, women are going to reject the short hemline in favor of St. Laurent's length which drops to midcalf or 14 inches from the ground, there are also ways and means by which this can be done.

Cut off the bodice of the sack or trapeze at a line parallel with the underarm of the sleeves. Drop the skirt to the desired length and make a separate new top. This can be a short-waisted bodice or overblouse in contrasting fabric. The theme of the Dior collection concentrates on these simple little "vareuse" bodices in pastel-colored velvet, giving a mock two-piece effect.

Last season's high necklines, with Peter Pan or schoolgirl collars, give way for the winter to deep décolleté scooped in camisole or boat-shape necklines. A new lease of life can be given to many an old dress by just opening the front and back of the neckline.

REV. AND MRS. F. RALPH KENDALL

MONTREAL SETTING

Sheila Davis, Rev. Ralph Kendall Principals in Autumn Ceremony

The Ephraim Scott Memorial Church at Montreal was the setting for a ceremony of wide local interest uniting in marriage Sheila Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie T. Davis of Notre Dame de Grace, and Rev. Frederick Ralph Kendall, formerly of Ottawa, and now pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Penticton. Rev. J. S. McBride officiated at the afternoon ceremony performed before the altar banked with white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Michael Witham was organist and the soloist was Val Smiley.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white de-lustered satin with long sleeves and front panel of Chantilly lace.

Appliques of lace extended down the front of the bodice from the yoke and around the neckline, defined with deep pearl embroidery. Deep unpressed pleats at a low waistline added fullness to the bouffant skirt worn over crinolines. Her four-tiered circular veil of tulle illusion was held by a tiara of tiny pearls and crystal beads. She carried a cascading bouquet of red roses and wore a necklace of pearls, the groom's gift.

Miss Patricia Kendall, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Miss Sylvia Scott and Miss Marilyn Wernett were bridesmaids. Attendants wore frocks styled alike of crystal charm in the princess mode with large bows and streamers at the back.

The maid of honor in turquoise and the bridesmaids in coral. They wore crownless hats of matching material with hand-made rose petals around the crown. Their nosegays were fashioned of pink and white carnations.

Little Miss Robin Gilbert, the bride's cousin, was flower girl. Her short full-skirted dress was styled of turquoise crystal charm with large bow and trimmed with tiny pink flowers. She wore a hat similar to the other attendants and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses.

James Hutchinson of Ottawa was best man for the groom who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley Kendall of Ottawa. The ushers were Goodwill McDougall and John Kendall, brother of the groom.

The reception was held in the Vice-Regal suite of the Ritz Carleton Hotel where the floral arrangements were pink snapdragons and white mums.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Kendall left to take up residence in Penticton stopping off at Winnipeg and Banff en route. The bride travelled in a navy blue English wool suit, red and white accessories. She carried a light beige coat. Her corsage was styled from red sweetheart roses.

Membership Drive By Senior Group

Increased membership is the objective of the Senior Auxiliary to the Penticton Hospital, and with this as current project has issued a general invitation to the women of this city and neighboring communities to attend meetings held the third Monday of each month. Afternoon meetings are favored by the members and are held in the Health Centre on Eckhardt Avenue East beginning at 3 p.m.

The hospital auxiliary, one of two active in this city, was the first to be organized and has a fine record of service dating back more than twenty-five years.

The purchase of equipment for the sterile department at the hospital; a mobile library service when books are circulated twice weekly to patients and a booth set up at the hospital where baby garments, made by members, may be purchased, are just a few of the various projects undertaken by the auxiliary.

Plans dealing with the membership drive were among discussions at the first fall meeting in the Health Centre conducted by president Mrs. J. Vincent Carberry.

Reports were presented during the afternoon by Mrs. E. J. Chambers, library convener, and from Mrs. Graham Knight's baby booth committee. Those desiring to knit garments for the booth, may contact Mrs. Knight for wool.

Mrs. R. A. Casey was appointed chairman of those volunteering to work each afternoon when the Red Cross mobile blood clinic visits this city, September 30 to October 2.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. E. J. Chambers and Mrs. D. H. Tulley.

TRAVELLING COMPANION BY ALICE ALDEN

Firmly entrenched in fashion, for good, practical use, is the full-length wool knit coat. It makes an ideal travelling companion for the commuter and is an especial campus favorite. Here is a beauty, done in a hand-knit pattern and treated to oversize patch pockets to match its bulky knit. The collar is softly rolled, the sleeves are neatly cuffed. The coat comes in vivid colors as well as the more toned-down basics.

Hospital Auxiliary Busy During Recess

Although the Junior Auxiliary to the Penticton Hospital was in recess for the summer months, the members were busily engaged with special projects and the advancement of plans dealing with the fall and winter programs.

Reports concerning the summer activities were presented at the auxiliary's first seasonal meeting held in the Health Centre with president Mrs. Howard Patton in the chair.

The auxiliary was again successful in entering a prize-winning float in the annual Penticton Peach Festival parade and was the recipient of a silver rose bowl as the second prize. Mrs. Michael Selwood and her committee were in charge of decorating the parade entry.

Convener Mrs. R. W. Slade submitted a progress report on plans for the annual fall cabaret and dance, "The Jubilee Ball" to be held in the Canadian Legion auditorium October 24. All committee conveners have been appointed and are busy with various attractions featured each year at the popular social event.

A request for help from the Red Cross during the forthcoming blood donor clinic was answered by 15 members who volunteered to assist during the evenings of the three-day clinic, September 30 to October 2.

Mrs. John G. Edwards, auxiliary representative with the Penticton Hospital board, reported that a new contract had been signed with the nurses and that extensive improvements to the grounds around the nurses' residence had been completed. The board is contemplating some renovations to the building's interior in the near future.

Mrs. L. J. A. Rees was appointed as representative to attend the B.C. Hospital Auxiliaries' convention to be held next month in Vancouver.

Newspapers Get Most Advertising

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Richard L. Jones Jr., board chairman of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association bureau of advertising, says U.S. advertisers spent more on newspaper advertising last year than on radio, television, magazines and outdoor advertising combined. More than $3,235,600,000 was spent on U.S. newspaper advertising last year.

EVEN BEFORE THE JOB of laying the ice at Penticton Memorial Arena was completed, Penticton V's coach Pat Coburn was out on the playing surface. Pat is shown above looking wistfully at a pair of skates and wondering who will fill them for the V's this winter. Looking on while he adds the finishing touches to the ice surface is Charlie Gartner. The V's and Spokane Flyers of the Western Hockey League will take to the ice Friday to start training for the coming season.

PETER TOMLIN'S

SPORTS DIARY

THINGS ARE LOOKING BRIGHT for the Penticton V's as they get ready to open their fall training camp.

The announcement of the signing of three more players brings to nine the number on the roster for the coming season. All three of the newest players, Ken Coombs, Rich Healy and Ed Johnson, sound like they are capable of helping the club.

Johnson and Healy are graduates of the Edmonton Oil Kings, the same junior club that sent the V's such players as Gerry Leonard, Johnny Utendale, Eddie Diachuk and George McAvoy in past seasons.

Coombs played in the EHL last season with Johnstown and scored 84 points, third highest in the loop.

COBURN HAS DONE WHAT many people expected regarding the matter of defensemen.

He has two of the best defensemen in amateur hockey in the fold in himself and Yogi Kraiger.

Many people expected that he would bring in one and possibly two young untried rear-guards to pair with the two stalwarts. That is what he has done in signing Healy.

Harry Smith derived a great deal of benefit from playing alongside of Pat. Let's hope that Healy develops the same way.

OF THE THREE COACHES who started the season at the helm of the British Columbia Lions, only one, Vic Lindskog, remains.

A couple of weeks ago, as you may have heard, head coach Clem Crow was fired by the Lions.

Yesterday backfield coach Walt Schlunkman resigned his post with the club to accept a business offer from a U.S. firm.

Schlunkman's departure came as something of a surprise to the Lions' executive. It was the first time in history that a coach had quit the club.

Many had been fired, but this was the first one to step down voluntarily.

Schlunkman said on announcing his retirement, "I've been offered another post. I feel it is in my best interest to accept."

He added, "It's a matter of reading the hand-writing on the wall."

WALT WAS OF COURSE referring to next season when a new coach will, in all probability, be taking over for the Lions.

New head coaches like to hire their own assistants and he knew that there would probably not be a job for him in Vancouver next year.

Schlunkman's departure won't help or hurt the Lions any more than Clem Crow's leaving did.

Whatever is wrong with the club won't be corrected by coaching changes.

Hoop Meeting Set For Thursday Nite

Plans for the coming basketball season will be formed when the Penticton Amateur Basketball Association holds its annual meeting in the Legion Auditorium Thursday night at 7:30.

At their final meeting last year the executive of the PABA prepared plans for a midge city league similar to that functioning last year. In addition, they formulated plans to add a basketball league to their junior boys setup.

Stress is to be placed on the youngsters this year and other teams will function only if the players themselves show the initiative.

Dennis Atkinson, last year's senior men's manager, said in an interview that he felt there were enough good players in Penticton to have a team in the Interior League this winter. Replacements for many of last season's players will be needed, however.

Kelowna BA Oilers, league winners last season, have stated that they expect to have most of last season's players in the fold for the coming season.

Missing will be Bill Roth and Frank Fritz, Roth is rejoining the Vernon Lakers, who are reported to have a couple of former UBC stars lined up.

With the return of Vernon to the league action, the league will sport four teams this year. Kamloops, Kelowna and Penticton are the other league members.

Kelowna, who have gone all the way to the provincial finals only to be beaten out two years in a row, should, once again, be the team to beat.

Cup Contenders Take a Day Off

By SIDNEY C. MOODY JR., NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup races, which have been almost motionless, came to a dead stop today.

Both yachts were given the day off after the British challenger, Scryptre, signalled she wanted a postponement to clean her bottom.

Racing will resume Wednesday when Scryptre and her American opponent, Columbia, try again over what has been so far a breathless stretch of the Atlantic Ocean.

Columbia will spend the day on a "family sail" with her crew and their friends and relatives.

Monday's race without a finish was a disappointment to both crews. The sleek 12-meter sloop, which can hit upwards of 11 miles an hour, had five and a half hours to circle a 24-mile triangular course.

HALF-MILE LEAD

There was so little wind they didn't come close. Columbia, with a half-mile lead, was four miles from the finish line when the deadline gun sounded.

So instead of a victory for Columbia, the contest was called "no race" leaving the American defender with a triumph in the only completed race Saturday.

Monday's race was a sea-going still life.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies appeared today to have an unbreakable hold on the Canadian senior lacrosse championship and the Mann Cup.

Pursuing a merciless attack throughout, the B.C. champions overwhelmed Wexford—Crowland Switsons of Ontario 17-6 Monday night to take a 3-0 lead in the best of seven series being played here.

New Westminster won the opening game 20-7 and earned a close 7-4 victory in the second game.

Fourth and possibly final meeting of the series is scheduled for Tuesday.

Jack Blonda, who led the Inter-City Lacrosse League in scoring this year, pumped home two goals and picked up four assists. Jack Barclay added three goals.

Salmonbellies held the easterners scoreless for a stretch of 22 minutes, 23 seconds in the second and third quarters while scoring nine goals of their own. Much of the credit is due their capable goaltender, Stan Joseph.

Skip Teal, who has been the main spark in an otherwise meagre Switson attack, scored once and assisted twice for the easterners. Doug Smith scored twice.

Gary Carr, Jim McMahon and Dave Hall were the other Wexford-Crowland marksmen.

"I got the call to come up here so I decided to come up and have a little fun, play some games and help out if I can."

There has been talk of breaking up the Canadians the last two years so that other clubs might be on more of a level with the Montreal club, but Phil Watson, New York Ranger coach, doesn't go along with this idea.

"It's the same way with the New York Yankees in baseball," says Watson. "We won't beat them this year. We're gaining ground on them but it will take time. The only way is to try to get up to their level."

Meanwhile, the talent-rich Canadians aren't worrying coach Toe Blake who has set a target of 250 goals for his club over the 70-game season.

"If we get that many, we'll win the championship," he told Elmer (Montreal Star) Ferguson.

"Just before the start of last season, I asked the team for 230 goals," he said. They came up with 250, despite long absences through injury of Maurice Richard and Boom Boom Geoffroy.

"If those two hadn't been hurt I have to be in better condition and if Jean Beliveau hadn't mis-than our crew, and that's going to be real tough.

"Our boys are a bunch of nonentities now but we promise that people in Canada will know them after the next Olympics."

With the opening of the National Hockey League schedule only a few weeks away, every expert in Canada and the United States says that the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens are the team to beat.

Two Forwards, One Defenseman Added for Coming Puck Season

The number of players on the roster of the Penticton V's for the 1958-59 season has risen to nine with the announcement of the signings of three more players.

V's coach Pat Coburn announced this morning that the club had come to terms with two forwards and a defenseman.

They are forwards Ed Johnson and Ken Coombs and defenseman Rich Healy.

Johnson and Healy are both Edmonton boys who are being sent to Penticton by Edmonton Flyers. Both played last season with Edmonton Junior Oil Kings and both come highly recommended by Flyers coach Bud Poile.

The two youngsters have just left the Detroit Red Wings training camp and are expected in Penticton for the V's camp, which opens Friday.

Johnson plays left wing and Healy is a young, rough blue-line patrolman.

The third man, Ken Coombs, is a highly-regarded centre who played last season with Johnstown in the Eastern Amateur Hockey League.

He was third in scoring in that loop in '57-58 with a total of 84 points.

Announcement of the three signings brings to nine the total of players known to be trying for births with the V's. Others who have signed previously are defenseman Pat Coburn and Yogi Kraiger, forwards Buck Forslund and Wendy Keller and goalies Don Hamilton and Reno Zammer.

FIRST GAME OCT. 13

First regular Okanagan Senior Amateur League game for the V's will be in Penticton against Kelowna Packers Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 13.

Spokane Flyers will also train in Penticton with their camp also scheduled to open Friday. Flyers are the new entry in the professional Western Hockey League.

Flyers have scheduled two exhibition games for Memorial Arena. They will face Seattle Totems of the WHL, Friday, Oct. 3, and will play the V's the next night.

Further player help for the Penticton club is expected from Spokane, with whom the V's have a working agreement.

CASEY NOT WORRIED

Yanks Have Lost 5 Straight Games

By ED WILKS, Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in his life, Casey Stengel isn't worried about losing five in a row.

This time, his New York Yankees already have the American League pennant bagged, and with eight days to go before the world series opener in Milwaukee, Stengel has his pitchers back in form.

The champs lost three over the weekend in Baltimore, Friday they lost 5-4 in a five-run ninth inning.

Saturday it was 1-0, to Hoyt Wilhelm's no-hitter. Sunday it was 3-2.

But... Whitey Ford blanked the Birds on four hits in his seven innings Friday; Don Larsen blanked them on one hit for six innings of work Saturday, and Tom Sturdivant gave up eight hits but only one earned run in his six innings Sunday.

WORRIES OVER

So, Casey has a total of one earned run over 19 innings off his three ace behind 21-game win-ner Bob Turley. Just five days ago, Stengel didn't know if any one of the three would be of any help in the world series. All were on the disabled list with arm troubles.

Now he has a six-man staff ready for the Braves—with right-handers Duke Maas and Ryne Duren the other two — and a healthy club.

The Yankees' only problems from now to Milwaukee are to stay healthy and to help Turley win his 22nd.

Turley gets his last shot at becoming the Yanks' biggest one-season winner since 1934, when Lefty Gomez won 26, as the champs return to action at Boston tonight.

Algerians Die in Hail Of Gendarme Bullets

By JOHN RODERICK
PARIS (AP) — Three Algerian terrorists who opened fire on a police squad car were shot dead early today in the Aubervilliers section of Paris.

At Metz in eastern France about the same time, an Algerian fired three bullets at a French soldier, killing him.

Across the Mediterranean in Algeria, authorities said French soldiers came across the mass grave of between 400 and 500 Algerian nationalist rebels.

A French announcement Monday night said notes found with the bodies proved they were slain by their former comrades for threatening to abandon the rebellion. All belong to a rebel unit led by a Col. Amirouche, the French said.

THROATS CUT
French soldiers said the throats of most of the slain had been cut and some were shot after torture, mostly within the last week.

Authorities in Paris viewed the continuing violence in France and the reported mass murders in Algeria as part of the rebel campaign against Premier de Gaulle's proposed constitution. De Gaulle has not said specifically what plans he has for Algeria.

In Algeria the rebels are trying to warn the people away from the polls which will be open there Friday through Sunday. In France, where all voting will be Sunday, the rebels are trying to raise an outcry that would force the government to negotiate.

The terrorist campaign in France began Aug. 25. In the last month Paris has experienced its worst political violence since the German occupation. During the last week alone, police say, terrorists killed six persons and wounded five while authorities killed five terrorists and wounded five.

'SHERM THE FIRM'

Adams Bows Out as Eisenhower's Key Man

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — While millions watched with varying reactions, Sherman Adams bowed out Monday night as the man closest to the throne in the Eisenhower administration.

Still insisting "I have done no wrong," he yielded to renewed pressure from Republican candidates and continuing criticism from Democrats of his relations with Bernard Goldfine, the Boston millionaire and friend from whom he acknowledged receiving gifts.

Announcing his resignation in a 10-minute radio-TV appearance, President Eisenhower's chief aide said "I must give full consideration to the effect of my continuing presence on the public scene."

NEWPORT (AP) — "Sherm the firm" some called him. Others referred to him as "the rock."

The language used by still others about Sherman Adams does not bear repeating.

He was not widely liked in his role as President Eisenhower's muscular right arm but he was respected throughout the government. Feared in many quarters and—sometimes grudgingly—admired.

Adams, former New Hampshire governor, is a rail-thin, white haired man of average height with a sometimes rather pallid complexion and a piercing glance.

His normal expression can be perfectly described by the old cliché: Poker-faced.

Yet in private he has a sense of humor.

Adams has been widely described as "assistant president."

He can be gracious, even courtly. Usually he doesn't spare the time. He brushed off congressmen, senators and others who wanted things he didn't think justified. And more often than not he did it with a curtness that left many callers furious.

One of his White House associates defended Adams' conduct of the job, however.

"Sure he's an S.O.B.," said this official, who naturally wouldn't let his name be used, "but you've got to have an S.O.B. in the White House—somebody who can say No and keep the administration out of trouble."

Adams has often pooh-poohed the story that he really ran the White House. But on a host of matters his word was, in effect, law. His pencilled "O.K., S.A." on a document was normally good enough for his boss, who saw no need to investigate further.

None of Adams' friends would entertain for a minute any idea that Adams let himself be influenced by these gifts. They accept Adams' story that he did nothing in return for the gifts—that he'd have made inquiries in any case of government agencies with which his old friend Goldfine was in trouble.

and even as the man who runs the White House.

MAN WHO SAYS NO

Actually, his job has been the civilian equivalent of a military chief-of-staff — and, as one colleague puts it, the man who says No to people.

He can be gracious, even courtly. Usually he doesn't spare the time. He brushed off congressmen, senators and others who wanted things he didn't think justified. And more often than not he did it with a curtness that left many callers furious.

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government was blamed Monday night for causing the industrial strife which had riddled B.C. this year.

Mr. Strachan, speaking at a public meeting in the CCF hall, said Mr. Wicks had "bragged" that by doing away with a full-time board he was saving $40,000 a year, and that the new Labor Relations Act would make the labor and management situation even better.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

In Limelight After 15-Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Consider the strange case of Alan Marshal. Fifteen years ago, he was riding the crest of popularity. A handsome leading man in films like Lydia and Tom, Dick and Harry, he seemed to have everything he needed.

He played opposite Irene Dunn in the immensely popular movie, Cliffs of Dover, followed it with a comedy, Bride by Mistake, Laraine Day. Then he disappeared from sight.

Fourteen years later, he is making another movie, The House on Haunted Hill. What happened in between?

He gave some explanation during a lunch break as he was finishing the movie at Allied Artists.

"I underwent a kind of mental turmoil. There was a long period when I didn't appear to be able to make up my mind. Producers would send me scripts and I'd read them. But I couldn't tell them whether I would or would not do the pictures. Gradually they stopped sending me scripts."

He didn't elaborate but after a number of years, felt he had cured himself of it.

"But then it was too late. The picture business had passed me by. The producers seemed to have forgotten me."

Unable to find work in films, he went east and got a few roles in TV dramas. He toured briefly in a play, then returned to Hollywood.

In recent months, his career has brightened. He made a good impression in a Perry Mason film, then did a G.E. Theatre and a couple of western TV segments. The House on Haunted Hill developed and there are other roles in the offing.

PICTURES NOT SAME — "I am pretty happy," Marshal commented, "though they don't seem to be making the kind of picture I used to do. Everything seems to be westerns and horror pictures and juvenile delinquency. I was always pretty much typed as an Englishman."

"Actually, though I was born in Australia, I have lived here since I was five and went to school in New York. But I started playing the classics at an early age and I held onto an English accent because I liked it."

SALLY'S SALLIES

"When I write 'eeny-bitt' in my reports, I mean ultramicroscopic."

Opening lead—six of hearts.

One play which has a certain mysterious quality about it occurs from time to time in notrump contracts. We refer to the hold-up.

When declarer has a double stopper in the suit that is led.

The best way to show the effectiveness of this play is to demonstrate what happens when the play is not used.

Suppose a heart is led by West and declarer wins East's trick with the ace. He now enters dummy with a spade in order to lead a low diamond. East, on his toes, steps up with the king, and returns the nine of hearts.

West overtakes with the ten and declarer refuses the trick. West leads another heart, which dummy has to win, and West's hearts are now established.

Declarer can get nowhere without bidding up dummy's diamonds. When he leads another diamond, West wins, cashes his two good hearts, and South is down one, having lost three hearts and two diamonds.

Now let's try out what appears to be more or less the same play, but is not. This time, in an effort to break the heart communication between East and West, we duck the heart on the opening lead.

East wins with the jack and can do no better than return a heart. Let's say we win with the ace and get the diamond suit going. We lead the queen of diamonds.

Either defender may win it, but the contract can no longer be defeated.

Suppose East wins the diamond. He has no heart to return. What-ever he plays back, we force out the ace of diamonds and have ten tricks to show for our efforts.

Or suppose West wins the queen of diamonds. This is equally ineffective, for while he may return a heart and set up his suit, it does him no good because he has no entry card. We just lead another diamond and again make ten tricks.

The contract stands or falls depending on what declarer does on the opening lead. Winning the trick loses the hand.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By Stanley

Montreal Poet Hits New York

MONTREAL (CP) — Andre Pierre Boucher, 22-year-old Montreal poet and playwright, is to direct his play "Les Embarras" in a production by the New York Theatre Guild in New York.

The young playwright says he is going to live in New York for awhile to "make contacts and get the feel of it" before venturing the New York production.

He is to study literature at Columbia University and work in the French section of the United Nations press room. He now is a supervisor of the commercial drama festival "because everyone was afraid of the original script in which unconventional sexual relationships were implied."

"I love the crowd and the solitude of New York," he says, "but I will come back."

SOUVENIRS OF SCHOOL OPENING

One thing about Canadian youngsters, they soon learn the value of free enterprise. Within minutes of the cutting of the ribbon at Princess Margaret School yesterday Stuart Van Dusen, 10, left, was slicing the white satin into neat chunks and sharing it with friends Leslie Wiltse, 7, Barry Underdown, 10, and Tommy Edwards. The price? Like any smart businessman with a corner on the market Stuart wasn't talking.

Ontario Beer Strike Goes Into 7-th Week

TORONTO (CP) — With Ontario's beer strike in its seventh week and no signs in sight of a settlement, those who continue to sip the brew have acquired a certain furtiveness.

Items: A case of "dog food" shipped by air from Montreal to Toronto was dropped and a liquid trickled out. As a result a man was fined $150 for having beer in a public place.

A Toronto man who didn't want to "hurt the family's feelings" by drinking the last beer in front of the wife turned. A man was caught bringing a load of beer to Canada by boat.

At Windsor, where smuggling of alcoholic beverages to the United States was a thriving industry during U.S. prohibition, the tide turned. A man was caught bringing a load of beer to Canada by boat.

At Ottawa and other Quebec border points, nervous motorists have had their cars searched by police. Sometimes beer has been discovered.

Citizens Must Help Planning Of Community

TORONTO (CP) — Greater participation by citizen groups in community planning was called for today by Mrs. J. R. Hoag, chairman of the Regina planning commission.

She told a national conference of the Community Planning Association of Canada that the varied interests of citizens' organizations must be pulled together for advice to community planners.

"Too often municipal governments rely on such groups as the chamber of commerce to interpret public thinking, forgetting that this represents one segment of the community and might not be in harmony with the wishes of the majority."

Text of Mrs. Hoag's speech was given to the press before delivery.

No Fresh Hopes From Warsaw

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The third round of talks between the United States and Communist China at Warsaw is reported to have brought no fresh hope of a diplomatic break in the Formosa deadlock.

President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles were expected to review the situation upon the president's return today from his Newport, R.I., vacation headquarters.

There is increasing concern in American official quarters that unless there is a favorable break, China's avowed determination to take Nationalist-held territory by force may lead to conflict between the U.S. and China.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan held their third session on the crisis in Warsaw Monday. It lasted 1 1/2 hours.

STANDING FIRM

Diplomatic informants said that China is standing firm on its demand that the United States agree to abandon Formosa. U.S. officials said this is so completely contrary to basic policy as to be entirely beyond serious consideration.

The United States, for its part, insisted again that the Reds agree to a cease-fire that would halt their shelling of the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy.

EMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE

Appointment of Bruce Howard, Roy Meiklejohn and F. H. Herbert as Penticton Board of Trade representatives on the winter employment committee, sponsored by the board, was approved by city council last night. Naming of J. C. Donald, board of trade secretary-manager, as secretary of the committee, was also approved.

BETTER PEST CONTROL

A board of trade resolution, observing that the city's pest control program "was not as effective as usual" during the past summer, and recommending that a further spray be authorized in future programs, was referred to the 1959 council.

URGE AIRPORT STUDY

In response to a letter from the city of Vernon urging continued support for its efforts to have an airport developed at Swan Lake, city council is writing the federal transport urging that a full study of possible sites be made before finally deciding where the second major airport in the Okanagan Valley is to be located.

TAX EXEMPTION

City council will apply to Victoria to have the yacht club property exempt from taxes as arranged in the original agreement with council. The new Municipal Act says such agreements must be approved by the department of municipal affairs which may direct that they must also be submitted for approval of the ratepayers.

TRAFFIC BYLAW

A new traffic bylaw, given first three readings last night, provides that White and Padmore Avenues be made through streets from Ellis to Haywood and from Ellis to Burns respectively. The bylaw will also decree that there is to be no parking on the south side of Lakeshore Drive from Martin to Main streets.

BOATHOUSE SITES

At the next hearing for zoning bylaw revisions, changes will be proposed to allow boathouses to be placed nearer to the high-water mark on private lakeshore lots, it was decided on recommendation of the land sales committee.

Pupils Urge School Opening

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Youngsters in Virginia and Arkansas played an active part in the integration crisis Monday while Florida's Governor LeRoy Collins told a conference of southern governors the dispute could lead to a national catastrophe. High school pupils in Norfolk and Charlottesville, Va., signed petitions urging that their public schools be reopened.

Chiang Kai-shek Discusses Crisis

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek and American Admiral Harry D. Felt discussed the Formosa Strait crisis today as the Communist threat to the offshore islands went into a second tense month.

The president of Nationalist China and the commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific were believed to have considered ways of getting more supplies to the besieged Quemoy.

The Nationalist said another supply convoy got through to Quemoy and more supplies were parachuted to Little Quemoy. With the Communist bombardment continuing, however, the supply situation remained tight.

The defence ministry said the Communists hurled 5,831 shells at the islands in the last six hours of Monday, the last day of a full month's bombardment. That brought the estimated total number of shells fired at the islands since Aug. 23 to about 325,000.

Hartnell Plans New Uniform For Airline

TORONTO (CP) — British designer Norman Hartnell says he is designing a new uniform for stewardesses of British Overseas Airways Corporation as part of a plan to put more color into air travel.

Here to show a collection of some of his newest dress creations, Mr. Hartnell said Monday he is also giving thoughts to new aircraft interiors.

He wouldn't discuss details of the new stewardess uniforms except to say he's sure the ladies will like them.

Mr. Hartnell's line includes several new shades. One, for no apparent reason, is called Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Jeff Todd has taken over the secretary's duties from Mrs. Margo Johnson, who has moved to Kelowna.

Immediate past president, Mrs. Art Kopp, reported a successful season with the swim classes. Registrations totalled 107 and all who took exams, passed. The classes are sponsored annually by the P-TA.
